BELIEVE IT OR NOT: Dexter Townsend, 19, of 211 Carver Street in Eagle Park Acres walked away from this Chevy Camaro with only minor cuts and bruises Monday night at 7:30. He was southbound ascending the approach of the McCambridge Avenue overpass near Second Street in Madison when the car was forced from the wet roadway by a van and dropped off an embankment. The car fell about 30 feet and landed on its top, near the end of Collinsville Avenue. Police credit Townsend's wearing a seatbelt as the only reason he was not killed or severely injured.

Hiring methods assailed in Granite City schools

By Meg Tebo
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Just days before the Nov. 7 election, the District 9 school board and administration find themselves on the defensive amid a renewed storm of protest over district hiring practices.

In particular, substitute cafeteria workers in the district's 12 schools are decried the way workers are chosen to fill permanent positions as they become available.

The workers feel their past experience as subs should be a major factor in hiring for permanent positions. Yet, they claim, and the district admits, some of those hired recently have less experience as District 9 cafeteria subs than many who were passed over for the jobs.

In at least one case, a person passed over had good evaluations by her supervisors at the various schools where she has substituted.

Alice "Sherry" Patrick, who recently requested that the district remove her name from the sub list, provided the Press-Record-Journal with copies of her evaluation forms as they were filled out by district personnel, as well as letters of recommendation, some also from District 9 people.

The documents show that Patrick's work was considered "outstanding" by at least one evaluator and ranged from "excellent" to "satisfactory" according to another. She also had letters of recommendation from at least three "lead ladies," the term the district uses to describe the head worker in each cafeteria.

Still, Patrick has never been hired for a permanent position, although she's subbed regularly in the district since 1985. She said she was particularly upset after the most recent hirings on Oct. 24 because several of those hired, she claims, have never worked for District 9 before.

Other substitute cafeteria workers have voiced the same complaint, although most declined to give their names because they still hope to get jobs in District 9 schools.

"I'm just really fed up with this system and I just can't go on being just a sub any more. I need to feed my kids," said Patrick of her decision to remove her name from the sub list.

"It's not what you know, it's who you know around here," she said.

But district 9 Superintendent of Schools Gilbert "Gib" Wamsley disputes Patrick's claim that favoritism plays a role in hiring practices. He is best for the specific position each time a job opens up. Previous sub experience plays no role in that decision because experience doesn't always make somebody the best," Wamsley said.

Board of Education member Roy Koberna, however, said the district's hiring practices are flawed.

"Hiring is the worst part of (being a board member). For every one we hire, there's several we don't, and those few get upset. Still, I think the evaluation system is flawed and we need to put more stock in the recommendations of the people who work there with them day to day," Koberna said.

In the last round of hirings (Oct. 24), I talked to some supervisors in the high school cafeteria and they recommended a person they said was an excellent worker and really needed the job. So I recommended her based on what they said, although I've never met her. The other people, I didn't even know anything about and so I had to go just with what others said.

"It's really frustrating when someone later comes to you and says, 'Did you know this about that person and you have to say, 'No, I didn't. I wish we could get to know more about each candidate'," said Karandjeff.

"Without the generous financial support and the dedicated volunteer spirit thriving within the entire community the goal could not have been met," he said.

"However, our task is not yet over. We will continue to contact contributors in hopes of securing additional funds for the expansion of needed services."

Granite to state

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

EDWARDSVILLE — Jeff Rosenberg's sense of timing was perfect.

The Warrior senior scored his first goal of the year Tuesday to lift Granite City to a 1-0 victory over Collinsville in the Granite City Super-Schools tournament at SIUE's Bob Guelker Field.

The soccer Warriors (21-5-3) thus earned their 13th trip to the state tournament in 18 years. They'll go for their ninth state title starting Friday with a 5:30 p.m. quarterfinal game against Olympia Fields Rich Central (18-5) at Palatine Fremd High School in suburban Chicago.

Rosenberg, who sat out two weeks this season when he was ineligible due to grades, took a pass from senior captain John Van Buskirk and scored from point-blank range midway through the third quarter.

The Warriors hung on the rest of the way.

Collinsville, coached by Granite City native Ron Rowden, finished the season at 16-6-2, with three of the losses all shutouts — coming at the hands of the Warriors.

United Way tops $901,000

GRANITE CITY — The Tri-Cities Area United Way has exceeded its 1989 goal of $901,000, Drew Karandjeff, general campaign chairman, announced today.

"A total of $920,260 has been pledged to date," he said.

Of the total, 68 percent was raised by area industries, 13 percent from local businesses, 9 percent from professionals, and 10 percent from private donors and school and government employees.

"The entire Tri-Cities area community has every right to be proud of this major accomplishment," said Karandjeff.

United Way serves 22 local agencies. The campaign last year also met its goal, but not by the final report week.

Regional trustees opposed

By Meg Tebo
Staff writer

Five candidates are running for three seats on the Madison County Regional Board of School Trustees Nov. 7.

This election marks the first time in many years that any incumbents have been challenged for the seven-member board.

The board works with Regional Superintendent of Schools Harry A. Briggs Jr. It oversees such school district functions as land detachments, annexations, property sales and boundary disputes.

The three incumbents seeking re-election are Homer Huber of Granite City, Joseph Barry of Alton and Earl Vaugniaux of Edwardsville.

The two challengers are Freda of Alton and Mike McNamee of Alton.

Huber has been on the board since 1984. He is retired and the former owner of Feder and Huber Furniture Company in Granite City. He is a past president of the Granite City Board of Education.

Huber had no explanation as to why the incumbents were being challenged this year, other than to say that it may have to do with the general resurgence of interest in public education nationwide.

"It's a public service for no compensation, so you have to have an interest in it to do it," Huber said.

Berry has been on the board since 1970 and Vaugniaux since 1980.

Prehn is also a candidate for the Lewis and Clark Community College Board; McNamee (see SCHOOLS, Page 7A)

Nameoki Road may get new businesses

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The face of Nameoki Road may change in coming months. Several new businesses are considering locating there.

Among the prospective businesses are Steak 'n Shake, Imo's Pizza, Hardee's and Blockbuster Video.

Vince Imo, president of Imo's Pizza, said an Imo's will be built "probably by the end of the year" at 3361 Fehling Road in the Central Plaza Shopping Center on Fehling road near Nameoki Road.

Central Plaza was also to become the site of a new real estate office owned by agent

John Sobol, but Sobol has since changed his mind about relocating, his wife, Charlotte, said Wednesday.

Dave Orvan, district manager for Hardee's Restaurants, said the company is seriously considering opening another outlet in the old Sambo's Restaurant building next to the Mobil gasoline station at Nameoki and Pontoon Road. That restaurant would be in addition to the one just opened at the intersection of Illinois Route 3 and Chain of Rocks Road.

"The Hardee's proposal, however, has been delayed because of concern over a leaking petroleum products tank buried there, said a spokesman for the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Meanwhile Steak 'n Shake restaurants are scouting Granite City.

Company real estate representative Max Malz said, "We're looking at Granite City as a possible avenue for expansion."

Several sites are being explored, including in the Nameoki Road area, but Malz could not confirm particulars.

Malz said Granite City has "obviously done a turn-around" and his company believes there is "a lot of vitality" here.

Charles, a spokesman for Blockbuster Video confirmed that the video rental chain would open an outlet early in 1990 at the old Charlie's Restaurant site at the junction of Nameoki Road and Madison Avenue. There will also be a QuikTrip convenience store there.

Pontoon library district on Nov. 7 ballot

PONTON BEACH — Voters' approval is being sought by village officials Nov. 7 to create a library district.

An affirmative vote would exclude the Pontoon Beach area from a regional library district to be voted on next spring. That district would encompass the Granite City School District 9 boundaries.

If next Tuesday's measure is approved by voters, a tax of 15 cents per $100 assessed valuation would be added to a village resident's real estate taxes, according to Village Clerk Mary Warren.

That tax rate would equate to about $15 a year on a home valued at $30,000 and assessed at one-third fair market value, $10,000, or $30 a year on a residence worth $60,000 and assessed at $20,000.

This rate would produce $19,000 a year to operate the library, it was estimated.

The only other real estate tax paid directly to the village is based on a 7.5-cent rate per $100 assessment for police services, Warren said Wednesday.

The village has been operating a free library at 5 Oakmont Plaza Shopping Center since Oct. 1. The facility was donated free for a three-year period by Jim Green, owner of the shopping center.

The hours of operation at that library are 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays and 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturdays.

Approval of the tax referendum would allow the village to qualify for state funds and grants, Robbie Wilson, Pontoon Beach library board president, said.

The proposed library district also could become part of the Lewis and Clark Library System, which would provide an additional 1,500 books per year and a much larger selection of books and services and could create branch libraries to make those services convenient to all, advocates said.

One regional advocate said Pontoon voters will be giving themselves a choice between used books and limited hours or a vast library open six days a week and providing access to videos, records, tapes and many other resources.

Pontoon Beach officials disagree, praising the library that has been started in the village and predicting that it will improve rapidly.

A total of 118 patrons visited the free library during its first two days of operation and "we have been well patronized ever since," Wilson said.

"Three high school girls came in the other day after school. They were looking for information on ancient Greece and they found what they were looking for. As I watched them, it made me feel very good about the library," she said.

"We have more than 10,000 books representing most categories and we expect to expand this number," she said.

The cooperative efforts of village officials, participating citizens and volunteers have made the library a reality, Wilson said.

Thousands of books on a broad range of subjects — from children's tales and education to fiction and the sciences — were donated, recorded and catalogued and are now available on loan.

"Many, if not most, of the donated books came from Granite City residents," said Alice Lucas, a Pontoon Beach library board member. "We couldn't have done it without them."

Pontoon Beach residents may vote on the library referendum at eight precinct locations while voting also in the Granite City School District election on Tuesday, Nov. 7, from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Votes on the library and on school board candidates may be cast by the residents at Nameoki Township precincts 1, 7, 8, 9 and 10; Chouteau Township Precinct 5; Collinsville Precinct 13; and Edwardsville Precinct 8, Warren said.

Class X felony alleged; more victims possible

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

MADISON — A former Madison resident has been charged in two felony warrants with aggravated criminal sexual assault for allegedly abusing a 12-year-old boy earlier this year.

Lloyd Sidney Holt, 41, whose home address is now in rural Hickman, Ky., was charged in informations issued through the Madison County State's Attorney's office, which is attempting to extradite Holt from his current location, Tennessee.

The Class X felony warrants allege Holt committed homosexual activities with the same boy twice this year, in February and July, while Holt was living in Madison.

The victim is from the State Park Place area, Lt. Paul Bargiel, a detective with the Madison Police Department, said.

The possibility there may be other victims of such crimes in this area is being investigated, Bargiel said Tuesday.

"We are interesting in hearing from any parents or others who may have information about (such) activities," the officer said.

"There may be other victims in the area and we want to hear from anyone with information," he stressed.

Holt lived for some time in Granite City, State Park and Millstadt as well as in Madison, Bargiel said.

He (Holt) moved around a lot and he frequented a lot of places in the Granite City area. "I believe there could be other victims (of this type of activity)," Bargiel added.

Holt was being held last week on unspecified charges by Madison County authorities in Union City, Tenn.

"Paul (Bargiel) did a good job on this case," State's Attorney Bill Haine said Friday.

The report on the Holt investigation consists of more than 200 pages, Bargiel said Tuesday.

Extradition proceedings are continuing this week.

"I think we'll get him back here," Bargiel said.

The warrants were signed by Madison County Circuit Judge Paul Riley. Each of the charges carries a $100,000 bond, a spokesman for the state's attorney said.

RE-ELECT WORTHEN

Dear Friends:

My grandfather, Milton Worthen, served the citizens of Granite City for over fifty years as an original member of the Granite City Park Board. He and several other generous people offered countless hours of their time to the development and expansion of our community's parks and recreation services.

When the Park District achieved a high level of distinction the work didn't halt. Mr. Worthen and other utilized their self-pride to sustain a high level of quality for the Park District. He resisted the temptations to seek a higher public office.

I believe Monroe Worthen has displayed the same sense of civic pride. Rather than using his position as a spring board to higher public office, he has become the cornerstone of our Board of Education. For the past twenty-nine years, he and a dedicated group of citizens, teachers and administrators have worked hard for the betterment of our school system during periods of budgetary fluctuation and economic decline.

Monroe speaks for the voice of progress while maintaining a tight rein on financial stability. Truly believe he has the best interest of the school district in mind when he votes as a member of the board. I may not always agree with his resolution; however, I respect his honest approach to difficult problems.

As a junior member of the board, Monroe worked to gain seasoning by embracing executive positions without pay while other school districts reimbursed their executive officers. He has served on every committee and held every executive office over the years. As a senior member, his leadership and experience offers an excellent resource to a relatively young group of fellow board members.

I'm proud to be a member of the Worthen family. Their civic contributions to the community have withstood the test of time. Your continued support will be greatly appreciated on Tuesday, November 7th. Please vote for Monroe Worthen.

Respectfully

Weatherization aid available

Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagaman has announced the availability of funds to weatherize homes in the county.

He urged persons to act promptly and be placed on the waiting list now.

Quick action will ensure that cost savings on utility bills can be realized during the upcoming cold weather, he said.

"In light of recent announcements regarding utility rate hikes, low-income persons should find that this program can lessen the severity of these increases," a spokesman said.

"The program aids income-eligible homeowners and renters by installing energy-saving measures at the applicant's residence at no cost.

"Improvements include items such as insulation, weatherstripping, caulking and furnace retrofits.

"These improvements reduce utility consumption to help those on fixed incomes to keep utility costs down."

Madison County receives funding under the Illinois Home Weatherization Assistance Program from the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

The targeted population is the elderly, handicapped and other families that have annual incomes at or below the following guidelines.

Family size of:

- 1, $7,475;
- 2, $10,025;
- 3, $12,575;
- 4, $15,125;
- 5, $17,675;
- 6, $20,225;
- 7, $22,775.

For a family with more members, $2,550 is added for each additional member.

Approximately 100 additional families need to be identified to enable the county to expend current available funding.

Interested persons may contact the Madison County Weatherization office at 656-6300.

Occupant safety program adds topics

The Madison County Occupant Protection Program funded by the Illinois Department of Transportation will be continuing its traffic safety education in the community for a third year.

It is made available through the office of Harry Briggs Jr., Madison County regional superintendent of schools, and Plasa Health Care.

During the first and second grant years, the program consisted of education on seat belt safety and on drinking and driving/alcohol awareness.

Focus will continue on these topics with the addition of bicycle and pedestrian safety. This new component will be directed toward kindergarten pupils through sixth graders.

The final status report indicates more than 22,700 persons were reached through 1,651 presentations in the 1988-89 grant year.

Positive reception from the community and cooperation by the county's school districts helped make the program a success, a spokesman said.

The staff will be continuing presentations in the school systems and with businesses and civic organizations. For additional information, or to schedule a presentation, groups may contact safety coordinator Lisa Wood at 254-7400.

A seat belt survey for 1989 shows a 47 percent usage rate for Madison County adults — 3 percent more than 1988.

The percentage of front seat unrestrained children continues to remain high at 74 percent. "The safest place for children to ride in a car is the rear seat," Wood said.

"Children under six years old are required by law to be properly restrained in the rear seat," said Wood. "Those aged 3 and under should be in a safety seat and those aged 4 and 5 in a seat belt."

Library shares in access grant

Secretary of State and State Librarian Jim Edgar today announced the awarding of a $50,000 grant to the Lewis and Clark Library System in Edwardsville to improve computer access to other library collections.

The grant will be used to rebuild a telecommunications network as part of the system's plan to restructure its automation service.

Participating libraries use this automation service for the circulation of materials, cataloging of new materials and interlibrary loan.

"This project is truly on the cutting edge of library technology," Edgar said.

"A restructured telecommunication network will improve resource sharing and communication among public libraries in southern Illinois."

Libraries participating in the project include the Granite City Public Library.

Busch Gardens sets auditions

Performers looking for a chance to break into show business can demonstrate their talents when Busch Gardens, The Old Country, holds auditions in St. Louis on Friday, Nov. 3.

Talent scouts from the European-themed park in Williamsburg, Va., will hold the auditions from 5 to 8 p.m. at the Embassy Suites ballroom, 901 N. First, as part of an annual 15-city search for singers, dancers, technicians and stage managers.

Tax hearing next week

VENICE — A public hearing will be held next week to amend the 1989-90 city appropriations ordinance for an additional $37,800 to establish a working cash fund toward the retirement of $100,000 in bonds issued in January 1989.

The hearing will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 7, in the City Council chamber at City Hall, Broadway and Klein Street.

The supplemental appropriation is to be financed by an increased tax levy unless the city can find other funding, the proposed ordinance says.

For the park's 1990 season, performers must be 16 years of age or older by June 1990.

Busch Gardens features a broad array of live entertainment.

of Republican Women, the St. Clair County Republican Club and Rep. Stephens.

She hopes to run in November 1990 against Sen. Paul Simon, D-Makanda.

Hebrews 2:3... "How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation?"

How strong in faith you can be if you concentrate your devotion on our great salvation. God knows what we have need of. He knows we are easily tempted. He knows sin abounds around us. He knows our struggles and our strifes day by day.

God also knows that if we continually dwell on our hardships and our problems, and not on Him, they will become mountains that can't be moved.

God is a mountain mover. A problem solver. He is able to do exceeding great things for us, over and above all that we can ask, or even think!

Do not neglect to meditate on our great salvation: Christ our Saviour, healer, and baptizer. Change your situation of defeat to victory by ending neglect.

The best choices in District 9

Suffice it to say in this election year there are only a few good choices in Granite City District 9. Generally, the candidates lacking experience also lack practical ideas. And the candidates with experience also bring with them some baggage of the past that should have been shed long ago.

Eight candidates are squaring off for the four available seats in the election Nov. 7.

We feel the top two choices are incumbents Debbie Holt-Wilkerson and Jeff Parker.

Holt-Wilkerson is married and the mother of two children. She began her teaching career in Granite City and later taught in the Wood River school district. She is now a school nurse in Edwardsville.

She cites among her accomplishments her role in the reopening of Lake School, the closing of the high school campus during lunch hours, the development of a disaster plan for all the elementary school buildings, including installation of intercom systems, and the start of the DARE drug awareness program.

Parker, 35, has been a source of strength on the board since his appointment a little more than a year ago. He has two children and two stepchildren attending Granite City schools, and holds the rank of sergeant with the Granite City Police Department. He has been a key supporter of the DARE drug awareness program and closing the campus at the high school. Doubtless both stand stems from his knowledge of the children in the community and the problems they face.

Incumbents Holt-Wilkerson and Parker have been breaths of fresh air on the board during their first term. They've quietly listened to issues and spoken their minds when necessary. Holt-Wilkerson, particularly, did not buckle to pressure, despite some controversial issues, including the Jason Robertson AIDS case and the lengthy teachers'

Voters should also elect Dr. Mark Eavenson. Unlike some of his competitors, Eavenson has a clear idea of what the district needs, focusing his interest on high school repairs and training vocational students to reflect the needs of local industry.

Eavenson is a lifetime resident of Granite City and a graduate of Granite City High School South. He is also a registered nurse and a certified emergency medical technician with negotiating experience. He has been an instructor at Belleville Area College and Logan College of Chiropractic.

We also recommend Monroe Worthen. He has been around longer, knows more about and done more for District 9 than any other candidate. However, our recommendation doesn't come without qualification. For too long, Mr. Worthen has enjoyed a personal power base that should not have been. No one need go farther than to talk to those involved in the many closed-door sessions of the board to discover the truth—the questionable hirings and firings, the unnecessary debates, the manipulation of other board members.

Anyone as intelligent in the ways of the District 9 system as Mr. Worthen is too valuable to lose, so we have some advice. First, he should rethink entirely how the board functions as a unit, how it makes decisions as a unit, and how it does so entirely for the benefit of the student body. He should also keep in mind that the administration is hired to do a job, and the board is elected to recommend policy, not vice versa.

There are four other candidates, all good people who have made some contributions to the community. Unfortunately their platform is unclear or impractical; or they weren't in touch with needs of the school system. For those reasons the four people listed above are the best choices.

Venice's best choice: Johnson

Although she's the only non-incumbent running for the Venice District 3 School Board, Ruby Johnson is easily the most recommendable candidate.

Johnson has three children in the Venice public schools and has lived in the area for 20 years. A communications operator at Anheuser-Busch in St. Louis, she is the committee chair in Venice Township Precinct 2. She would be a watchdog for the taxpayers while making sure youths get the best possible education.

It is hard to recommend any of the four incumbents, although at least three will be elected. We shudder to think, but the lack of preparedness shown by these four men in returning questionnaires to this paper, stories leading up to the election might also be an indication of how much attention they'll pay on school issues.

After weeks of requests, the four submitted a "joint statement" explaining their views. Not only was the statement an obvious bit of pre-election puffery written by one person, it was a symbolic insult to anyone wanting to know more about the candidates as individuals. Independence counts on boards of importance to the community; such an approach shows none.

Vote 'no' on limited-area library

If they view library service as part of a political "turf war," Pontoon Beach residents may vote Nov. 7 to create their own tax-supported library district.

But the free library that opened in the village this fall has funds to operate for six months. A "no" vote Tuesday would give Pontoon Beach families the chance to decide four months from now whether to help create a large library district matching the School District 9 boundaries.

In this era of growing worldwide competition, youngsters and adults need the best. These are the important issues: adequate library financing, full-time hours, convenient location, wide selection of books and reference materials and the fullest range of library services.

We believe a big district would open a fine library in Pontoon Beach. But that can't happen if voters block it next week.

We think they ought to vote "no" and keep their options open. Even in a big district, they would be able to run for the board, and help elect it.

Some candidate recommendations

To the editor:

There are many fine people campaigning for the four elective seats on the Granite City District 9 Board of Education.

Most of them have called me asking my support due to my position as a precinct committeeman and former Nameoki Board of Trustee member. Two candidates have impressed me very much.

Debbie Wilkerson, a two-year elected incumbent, is not just one of the girls. She is an independent thinker, sincere, a wife, mother and professional business person.

If elected, Debbie will be the only lady serving on the board and I believe we need a woman's touch more these days than ever before.

The other candidate is Edward Dewey Melton, a former board member who served us well, but came under a lot of unnecessary fire for doing what he felt was right.

Debbie and Dewey know the district and the problems and how to keep our school district the best in the state of Illinois. Let's please vote Nov. 7.

Utilities shouldn't call the shots

To the editor:

The never-ending battle against inflated utility rates to pay for Illinois Power's mismanaged power plant at Clinton continues.

Now, Gov. Thompson has refused to re-appoint the Illinois Commerce Commission's chairman, Meg Bushnell, and a commissioner, Susan Stone.

He has appointed two new people, one with no experience with regulations or utility measures. The other new appointee has ties to large corporations.

This commission sets utility rates, and turned down portions of IP's last rate increase request. Both the commis-ness person.

If elected, Debbie will be the only lady serving on the board and I believe we need a woman's touch more these days than ever before.

The other candidate is Edward Dewey Melton, a former board member who served us well, but came under a lot of unnecessary fire for doing what he felt was right.

sioners leaving the ICC voted against proposed increases.

These new appointments must still be approved by the Senate Executive Committee on Appointments and then by the full Senate.

I urge all of IP's customers who are tired of high rates, and who don't want higher rates, to contact their senators on this issue.

We cannot let the utilities call the shots at the ICC. If they do, they will continue to mismanage nuclear power plants and make us pay for them.

MICHAEL RAY DILLIER, Granite City

Haine should accept facts, blame

To the editor:

Harry Truman was a public official who knew where the buck stopped. State's Attorney Bill Haine, who professes an admiration for this president, apparently does not subscribe to that philosophy.

I, for one, am fed up with Haine throwing a tantrum and placing the blame on everyone else when the blame has rested solely with him and his apparent ineptitude as state's attorney.

When Haine has lost a case, it was his predecessor Dick Allen's fault. Or, it was the judge. Then he insulted a jury by questioning their intelligence. But to blow a homicide case because of a lack of a speedy trial just shows that he has ineptly managed the office.

Losing a case in a jury trial is one thing. What is alarming is the frequency with which he loses them.

What is alarming is the deception on the public that he would not plea-bargain; yet, he does it with regularity.

What is alarming is the deception on the public when he said he would not hire Don Weber; yet, he has made him his trusted advisor and aide.

Perhaps State's Attorney Haine should heed another admonition of Truman's: (If you can't stand the heat) get out of the kitchen.

BAC: Taxation without representation

To the editor:

A year ago, residents of the Belleville Area College district voted for representation on the BAC board. Last month, the trustees once again ignored our area when filing a vacancy, even though they had three candidates from Granite City.

The trustees claim that it isn't important to have someone from this area on account of the fertility of the soil, and the consequent luxuriant growth of vegetation.

"It was indeed a land of promise, and a few years afterward was the largest and best settlement in Illinois."

Goshen Settlement, so called in early times, embraced about the whole territory of Madison County.

"This settlement was in its early history—as it has always been—a compact, happy and prosperous community."

OLDER THAN ILLINOIS itself, Madison County officially came into existence in 1812, when it was named for James Madison. This was six years before Illinois, on Dec. 3, 1818, became the 21st state.

What about Granite City? It did not become a municipality until 1886, but its site was known for nearly a century before that.

Mr. Six Mile Prairie, from which the Old Six Mile historical Society and Museum in Granite City take their names.

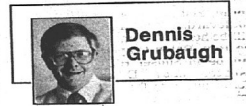

An early historian wrote that "In 1801, the first settlers located in Six Mile Prairie. Their names were Patrick Hanniberry and Mr. Schenck."

The latter had a family, but Hanniberry was a single man.

Their settlement received the name of Six Mile Prairie from the situation, which was six miles north of St. Louis, in Upper Louisiana.

The immigrants at this period were mostly from the southern and western states. Very few eastern people settled in Illinois at that early day.

Brokers are hard to break

Editors must be easy marks.

The very sound of our titles draws investment brokers from throughout the land, and I was reminded of that fact again this week when I received my monthly unsolicited phone call for investing in stocks. The caller's name has been changed to protect the guilty.

"Hello, Mr. Grumboski? Am I saying that right? Grumboski? This is Michael P. Jamison of Greenstein, Feldstein, Bloomstein and Smith here in Dallas. You might not remember me, but I called six months ago and was advising you on some stocks I had my eye on."

"You're right," I replied, "I don't remember you. I've got some Grayboy, you told me you weren't interested in investing a few months ago and at the time I was saying that Columbia Pictures was going to be a good buy. Do you know what has happened to that particular company since we last priced at $10 a share to $201 Mr. Grumboski, you could have doubled your investment."

"That would have been fine," I responded, "except at the time I couldn't afford the double-print and at Wal-Mart let alone prices at Columbia Pictures."

"Oh? Well, how about now? I've got some great thoughts about what you can do with Maybelline..."

"Forget it," I cut him off. "I appreciate your interest, but I have no money to invest right now. I probably won't have any next week. And if I'm lucky, my daughter can finally buy a new dress and the power company will restore the lights."

"Oh," said the disillusioned stockbroker. "Does that mean you're not interested in investing at this time?"

"Mr. Jackson, you're very astute."

"That's Mr. Jamison, Mr. Grayball. How about if I call you again in six months?"

"No, don't call me back. Not now. Not ever. If the world ends and we're the only two people left, don't call me."

"OK, Mr. Grumboski, I'll keep your name in my file just in case."

French settled Chouteau Island when county was still a wilderness

On the occasion of the Madison County Historical Museum's 25th anniversary this Sunday, Nov. 5, let's take a look back into our 177-year-old county's past.

The museum in Edwardsville will mark its 25 years at 2 p.m. at the County Historical Society's fall meeting, at Immanuel United Methodist Church, 800 North Main St.

Mrs. V. L. Mindrup will speak on "The Origin and Ensuing Years of the Madison County Historical Society and Mrs. M.A. Timmerman will talk on "The Museum Years."

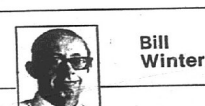

ALTHOUGH INDIANS established a Madison County metropolis many centuries before, at what is now the Cahokia Mounds Historic Site, 15 miles from Edwardsville, the first records of immigrants arriving in this county date back only to the mid-1800s.

"Immigration in earnest commenced to flow into the Illinois country after the division of the Indiana Territory in 1800.

"The American settlements and even the French settlements began to extend throughout the western section of Illinois."

In 1800, THE FIRST settler "located himself at Goshen, more than 20 miles in advance of the settlements."

"His name was Ephraim O'Connor, and he located in the American Bottoms near the bluff, five or six miles southwest of Edwardsville."

"Col. Samuel Judy bought out O'Connor in 1801; he lived upon his spot more than a third of a century and died in the same place. Thomas Judy, grandson of Samuel Judy, thinks the latter may have come to Goshen (as early as) 1788."

"The Rev. David Badgley and some others in 1799 explored the country at present embraced in the county of Madison and called it Goshen."

"THEY GAVE IT this name on account of the fertility of the soil, and the consequent luxuriant growth of vegetation."

"It was indeed a land of promise, and a few years afterward was the largest and best settlement in Illinois."

Goshen Settlement, so called in early times, embraced about the whole territory of Madison County.

"This settlement was in its early history—as it has always been—a compact, happy and prosperous community."

OLDER THAN ILLINOIS itself, Madison County officially came into existence in 1812, when it was named for James Madison. This was six years before Illinois, on Dec. 3, 1818, became the 21st state.

"THE OHIO RIVER was the main channel by which these hardy pioneers reached their new homes in the wilderness."

"The infant colony of Goshen Settlement was early called to experience the perils of a new country."

The area that became Madison County also faced "the cruelty of a savage foe (Indians who felt threatened by the immigrants' arrival)."

Koberna said he and fellow board member Jeff Parker agree that the board needs to request that the administration provide them with copies of all materials used to evaluate candidates so that the board may make more informed decisions. "And when it comes to actual teachers and all of the top three candidates," Koberna said. "That would be the best way to let them know that they got a fair shake and let us get to know them before we vote."

"I plan to recommend that when the new board is in place (after the election)."

Koberna is not up for re-election this year, but three District 9 board members are, including Parker, Debbie Holt-Wilkerson and Monroe Worthen. One other seat is also open since board member Jolene Terrell is not seeking re-election. The other board members not up for re-election this year are Mack Johnson and Paul Ray Bowler.

Rosenburg's goal sends Warriors to state for 13th time

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

EDWARDSVILLE — Anyone who would have said Jeff Rosenburg when asked to name possible heroes seemingly would have been taking a shot in the dark.

After all, Rosenburg had scored only one goal as a junior and none this year. He had also sat out two weeks of this season due to grades. But he received top marks Tuesday. Rosenburg's first goal of the year midway through the third quarter was the difference as the Warriors edged the Collinsville Kahoks 1-0 in the Granite City Super-Sectional at SIUE's Bob Guelker Field.

The win sends Granite City to the state tournament for the 13th time in 18 years — and for the 21st straight year. The Warriors (21-5-2) will play Olympia Fields Rich Central (19-5) in the state quarterfinals Friday at 5:30 p.m. at Palatine Fremd High School in northwest suburban Chicago.

"This is better than scoring 30 goals," said Rosenburg as Warrior fans and players went crazy on the field. "I was out a couple of weeks, but this makes it all worthwhile."

It was a good game until things deteriorated at the end. The officials showed eight yellow cards — three to the Kahoks and five to the Warriors — and ejected one player from each side — Skip Birdsong of Granite City and Jeff Wiegiers of Collinsville. Birdsong went with 11 minutes left and Wiegiers was banished with three minutes left after making like Bob Plager and assaulting John Van Buskirk in front of the Warrior bench.

"That's career-ending stuff," said Warrior coach Gene Baker. "John is already hurt. I hope he has enough left to make it through this weekend."

Van Buskirk, playing with a sore upper thigh, took the hit right in that spot but kept going. He proved his mettle again and again, assisting on Rosenburg's goal and gaining a little redemption for himself.

Van Buskirk is the only member of this year's varsity team who was on the varsity in 1986 when the Warriors lost a bitter

1-0 game to Collinsville in the sectional final. Just a freshman then, Van Buskirk clearly remembered that night even though he's experienced two trips to state and one state title in the interim.

"I thought about it during the game, but mostly I thought about it before the game," said Van Buskirk. "They were wearing the same uniforms tonight that they did my freshman year. I really wanted to play them once more. And beating Collinsville three times in one year is a great accomplishment. They really improved as the year went on."

It was scoreless through the first half, although Kahok sophomore keeper Mike Bolandis made good saves on Chad Lignoul and Bobby Cheung. But at 49:00 of the third quarter, Van Buskirk once again showed his greatness. Although far from 100 percent physically, he made his way through the Collinsville defense and moved in along the right touch line.

Bolandis stood his ground and Van Buskirk sent a pass right in front to Rosenburg, who knocked it home.

Olympians first test in Palatine

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

The Warriors will be taking on the Olympians tomorrow, but hopefully they're not good enough for world-class competition.

These aren't the U.S. Olympians — or Olympians from any other county. These are the Olympians of Rich Central High School in Olympia Fields in south suburban Chicago. Rich Central (19-5) knocked off previously unbeaten Tinley Park Flossmoor Super-Sectional on Tuesday and will face the Warriors in Friday's third quarterfinal game at the state tournament at Palatine Fremd High School.

Rich Central is making its first appearance in the state tournament.

"You always set that as a goal," said 12th-year coach Ed Bye. "But we weren't sure until we saw some of the teams which got upset along the way. Rich South is a conference for which got beat in the regional, then Homewood-Flossmoor lost in the sectional. And Andrew beat Brother Rice."

The Olympians had never made it past the first game of the sectional until this season. They were led by senior striker Kyle Smith (27 goals, 11 assists), junior midfielder Andy Mack (23 goals, 28 assists) and sophomore midfielder Shawn Morris (10 goals, 14 assists).

"That sounds like we're a real high-scoring team, but you have to understand there are a couple of very weak teams in our conference. We won one game 14-0, but nine different players scored. We never let a player get more than three goals in games like that."

Senior Eric Weis has 11 shut-outs and played all 24 games in goal.

"He was a defender last year," said Bye. "But we lost two very good goalies to graduation. We had another player in mind, but we really needed him to play in the field. Eric got off to a rocky start, but he has played very well since then."

We're pretty even as far as seniors, juniors and sophomores. (See WEEKEND, Page 2B)

THE CAPTAIN AND THE COACH: Warrior coach Gene Baker shows his appreciation for co-captain John Van Buskirk after Granite City's 1-0 win over Collinsville at SIUE on Tuesday.

3-6 not too bad for gridders

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — There was genuine emotion in the balcony overlooking Memorial Gymnasium late Friday night.

The Warrior football team had just wrapped up a season that was — all things considered — much better than even the coaches expected. In six losses, the chapter — a 41-0 loss to playoff-bound Belleville East — left a sour taste. But Ron Yates was appreciative. In six losses, the Warriors were outscored 220-16, meaning the average margin of defeat was 34 points. In three wins, Granite City came from behind in the fourth quarter on each occasion, never gaining the lead until the last four minutes.

So they were a lot closer to 0-9 than they were to being much better than 3-6. But even that was something to be pleased with.

"Whenever the game was on the line, we came through," said Yates. "I sure don't have any critical calls we made that cost us a game. Anything we did in a close game came out in our favor."

The Warriors were somewhat in two of the losses. They led 7-6 at halftime in Cahokia on opening night before losing 32-7. And Edwardsville scored late for a 26-3 win on Oct. 6.

It was the big play which hurt time and time again. The Warriors allowed 10 touchdowns of 39 yards or more in 1989, with all but one of them coming in the six losses. The longest was an 85-yard pass from Rollee Neville to Kenneth Dunn on the first play of East St. Louis' 63-6 win on Sept. 29.

Offensively, the Warriors didn't mount much outside of three fourth quarters. They had 1145 total yards (122.2 per game). That includes 745 yards rushing on 250 carries, only 2.9 yards per carry. Senior Darryn Yates, the coach's son, led the way with 232 yards on 71 carries. Terry Noud, the quickest back, averaged 4.5 yards per carry.

Junior quarterback Bob Thomas led the team well in the three wins, but was shaky the rest of the time. He threw for two touchdowns, ran for one and ran for a two-point conversion during the three fourth-quarter comebacks. But he threw for four touchdowns and 16 interceptions in only 101 attempts. He was 40 for 101 for 400 yards.

"I'll have to re-evaluate the quarterback position next year," Yates said. "Bobby did a great job bringing us back when we won, but he put us in the hole a lot. That's just too many interceptions."

Yates led the team with 17 receptions for 163 yards and a touchdown. Thomas led the team with 21 points on three touchdowns and three extra points. Noud had 14 points on two touchdowns and a two-point conversion. Eric Lewis had 10 points on a touchdown, a field goal and an extra point.

"I probably followed this group of seniors more than any other because my oldest boy was in this group," said Ron Yates. "They worked hard to get ready for this season. It just goes to show how hard these juniors will have to work to get ready for next year. And we had a good sophomore team this year, and those kids will be pushing them for varsity jobs."

NOTES: The sophomore team finished at 7-2 after a 3-0 win over Belleville East on Saturday. A recap of their season will appear next week. The freshmen finished at 5-3-1.
